Welcome to St James’s on the Second Sunday after Trinity

According to Christian legend, it was a Roman soldier called Longinus who took a lance and stabbed at the side of Christ in order to prove that crucifixion had definitively ended the life of the preacher from Galilee. From the heart of Jesus flowed water and blood: the signs of baptism and the Eucharist which inaugurated the new covenant. From the heart of Christ flows new life. Today's Gospel reminds us that the compassionate heart of the Saviour is the one who not only looks on us as "harassed and dejected" but whose heart of infinite love comes to us to seek us out. It is the compassionate heart of Jesus that pours itself out in love for the world. A love that was poured out for us on the Cross and continues to pour itself out for us in the Eucharistic meal. A compassionate heart that yearns for us to return to the only true source of light, and life, and love: which is God.
